The Essence of the Weakness of Man

February 1, 2012

Robert's Commentary for this day:

One of the "constants" which I have noticed about these days of the pursuit for the Republican Presidential nomination is that they all seem to desire to be recognized as the "Conservative" in the pack.

Why is it that even the moderate and liberal candidates (in both parties) are savvy enough to realize that the majority of Americans prefer the conservative values in, politics, economics, and moral social behaviors – but – the "true" conservative never seems to be able to get themselves successfully through the primary?

Isn't that representative of the essence of the weakness of man today?

Of the three remaining Republican candidates, Mitt Romney, Newt Gingrich and Rick Santorum – the two who are constantly professing that they are "Conservative" – are not! What does this say about the intellectual sensibility of current collective-state of the American voter?

The American people prefer a conservative; the lying moderate and liberal candidates, who are not conservative, know that the people want a conservative – yet – rarely do we ever actually get – a conservative! (Ronald Reagan)

"Integrity" means – When what you think and when what you say and when what you do – are all the same – you have integrity! Is it really possible that the American voter cannot see the obvious discrepancies and absence of "I-N-T-E-G-R-I-T-Y" in persons who are: Mitt and Newt?

...We know what is good and that good is preferable to the alternative - but inwardly, selfishly, we will forfeit good in exchange for someone who promises something better than "Good" – but always – is not!

It has been my opinion for a very long time that America's greatest likelihood for a doomed future is not due to the effects of "A" Bad political leader, or "A" group of Bad Congressmen – but rather, I believe that America is doomed because of "A" growing number of "Good People" who have ceased to choose ONLY truly "Good People" to rule over them.

How about: Rick Santorum – President and Michele Bachman – Vice President?

Not only do I believe that this combination would have the measure of "Good" to choose the Right Course and the tenacity to persevere – I believe that their radiance of "Good" would inspire and manifest the kind of "National-Spirit" within the hearts of the American People to enthusiastically accomplish what must be accomplish – in order to LEAD America back into greatness once again!

"Providence has given to our people the choice of their rulers, and it is the duty as well as the privilege and interest of our Christian nation to select and prefer Christians for their rulers.

Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court
